Mrs. Dooley went to see an attorney, wishing to bring action against the clty or the clerk, but she was advised that she had no ground for suit. She says that Dishman stole the girl from her at church Sunday night, and that she did not see her again until after the marriage.

FINED FOR WHIPPING HIS STEPMOTHER

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BOYDTON, VA., August 13.—James W. Hudson was before Justice Dan. Jones this week, charged with beating and otherwise maltreating Mrs. Betsy Hudson, his stepmother, an infirm old woman, eighty-four years old. Commonwealth's Attorney Goode represented Mrs. Hudson and ex-Judge Chr. less Alexander the accused. Hudson cented having beating his stepmother, but Mrs. Hudson stoulty affirmed that he did, and as proof of it showed marks or brulses on her person, which she said were inflicted by Hudson. Mrs. Hudson, with her husband, live about two miles from 'his place on a little farm, and the step son cultivates the place, and it appears they had the trouble over matters connected with the farm.

Justice Jones found Hudson gullty and imposed a fine to twenty dollars upon him. Hudson took an appeal to the County Court, but I understand he has since withdrawn the appeal and paid the fine. Much indignation has been felt here at this unwarranted attack upon this feeble and aged woman, who was born and raised in this community, where she has spent her long life. Mrs. Hudson is a high-spirited woman, but is kind and friendly, and is popular with her neighbors. Mrs. Hudson has been three times married. She was the Widow Smith before her last marriage. Last summer she married Mr. J. M. Hudson, and the aggregate ages of the couple was one hundred and sixty-six years.

It will be remembered by the readers of The Times-Dispatch that this old couple was wedded about a year ago, surrounded by a large company of friends, a full account of which appeared at the time.

for a long time, and the Accomac excited much attention as she towed her trophies — 'Prize ships,' as her crew proudly called them—past the wharves.

The poachers will be given a hearing in the Norfolk courts. The State authorities are very much in earnest in their efforts to protect the oyster's ded during the summer months. They state 'that there will be no oysters in a short while if the matter is not taken care of more diligently and the catching of oysters out of season is not stopped.

It appears to be almost a hopeless takk to enforce the culling laws during the reason also. The baby oyster is brought into port before he has time to grow, and this practice means the destruction of the beds within a few years.

DESTROYING THE FISH.

Great complaint is also made by the fishermen of the depredations of the big fishing boats owned by the guano factories hereabouts. It is stated that these toats with their palent apparatus are driving all the fish out of the lower Chesapeake.

The owners of the fisheries along the coast where only edible fish are taken complain bitterly that the fishing boats take the very best fish in these waters for the fertilizer factories, where good and had alike are ground up into fish fertilizer.

Sportsmen have also noticed the fact that the fishing in the bay is not as good as it used to be, and the prespect is that some action will be asked of the Board of the Chesapeake and its Tributaries, or even of the Legislature itself.

GREAT ATLANTIC TERMINUS.
The increased importance of this port as a result of the Seaboard Air Line deal with the Rock Island appears to have outweighed all other considerations in the estimation of the officials of the line who were seen by Times-Dispatch representatives to-day.

There appears to be no fear on their part that the system will be merged with another, with a resulting change of management, as a result of the deal. It merely looks like a tremendous increase in the importance of the system and making this port the Atlantic deep-water terminus of a great trans-continental railway company.

Judge Legh R. Watts, general counsel of the Seaboard, stated in a brief interview to-day that the deal will immensely increase the strength of the Scaboard, financially and otherwise. It will mean a increase the strength of the Scaboard, financially and otherwise. It will mean a rapid, an almost unprecedented increase in the business of this port and of all sections tributary to the Scaboard Air Line. The fact that the port will be the Atlantic deep-water terminal of such a system as will be linked up between it and the Rock Island is of tremendous local importance, the Judge thinks. Regarding any possible change of management he would not speak.

First Vice-President and General Manager James M Barr is away from the city on an inspection tour of the road.

SALE AND NOT AN ALLIANCE.

The announcement of the successful consummation of the deal did not occasion so much surprise among railway men as might have been expected. There are those among them who see in it the precursor of important and far-reaching changes in the railway world at large, and there are others who believe that there will be no other result then that the Rock Island and its connections will be enabled to reach the Atlantic Ocean, and will by their deal with the Seaboard hecome a trans-continental line, instead of one wholly inland.

With the Gould lines and the bay connections of the Seaboard, Baltimore will become a terminus of two trans-continent.

pections of the Seaboard, Baltimore will become a terminus of two trains continent all systems, having one physically at her doors, while this city will have the rails of the other. Private advices from New York to-day state that the "Seaboard has passed to the Rock Island." This would indicate a purchase, instead of a working

IN CAROLINE

Tremendous Interest Manifested in Politics.

A Big Fish Fry in Stafford Attended by Many Prominent People-Committee Investigating Condition of J. P. H. Crismond's Accounts.

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., Aug. 13.— August court in Caroline county is gencrally know as watermelon court on acount of the large number of watermelons exposed for sale at that time, but this year at the court held this week the number of melons was by far less than the average, due either to the scarcity of melons or to the season being later ple, however, was even larger than here tofore, many being attracted by the exciting stage of the political situation at this time.

The day was full of Interest and the attention of the crowd was held from early morning to late in the evening. Besides a speech from Hon. H. St. George Tucker on "Education," which was attentively listened to by many of the leading citizens of the country, the Confederates held a public meeting, elected officers and appointed a committee to arrange for a future public gathering, when initiatory steps will be taken towards the crection of a monument at the county seat to the memory of the Caroline Confederates who fell in battle during the Civil War.

MANY CANDIDATES.

Many announcements were made by candidates for various offices, the principal interest centering in the election for the House of Delegates, the race for which is between Judgé E. C. Moncura and Hon. D. B. Powers, Jr., the latter being the present incumbent, and for Commonwealth's attorney, for which there will be a lively contest between the present official, Mr. W. E. Ennis, and Mr. A. B. Chandler, who formerly held the office.

Judge Moncure announced a number of appointments for public speaking, when he will address the people, and Mr. A. B. Chandler will also stump the county. In every district there are two or more candidates for commissioner of revenue, and the proportion of candidates for the minor offices is about the same, so that politics are probably attracting more attention in Caroline this year than in any other county in the State.

There is only one office for which there will be no contest, and that is for State Senator, the people being entirely satisfied with Hon. H. T. Wickham, the present Senator, who has so long and so ably represented the people of Caroline in the upper branch of the Legislature. Senator Wickham will be unopposed in his own party for the nomination, and it is thought that he will have no opposition in the general election in November.

MANY ROBBERIES.

Many robberies have been committed recently on upper Sycamore and Halifax Streets, and the thieves have worked so eleverly that only once has any clue been left. On this occasion a thief, who ransacked a house on Halifax Street while the occupants were sitting on the porth, left so hurriedly when his presence was known that he forgot to carry a pair of shoes with him. A considerable sum of money was taken from a house on St. Matthew's Street and other articles of value stolen. It is thought that the same person is committing the robberles.
